

Road America IMSA, August 7th, 2022

The weather forecast was dismal for our IMSA event, rain all day, but the race goes on rain or shine. Three cars meet at the Wisconsin visitors center and arrived at Road America Corvette Corral with only damp roads and some misting rain. We were greeted by eight club members and the Kettle Moraine Corvette Club. GM and Corvette Racing sponsored the large tent located in the corral. Corvette sponsored breakfast, lunch, raffles, and presentations from Michelin, Mobil, Laura Klausner {Sports Car Racing Manager}, Doug Fehan {Corvette Racing Brand Ambassador}, Antonio Garcia and Jordan Taylor {Corvette Race Drivers}, and Ed Piaget {Corvette engineer}.

The WeatherTech Championship race started at 10:40am on wet pavement and continued misting rain throughout the race. There were four yellow cautions during the race with the Corvette team finishing third behind Lexus and Porsche in the GTD-PRO class.

The day at Road America was very enjoyable with the weather being very tolerable. We were able to meet many Corvette enthusiasts and enjoy the racing events. We had one member {Russ G.} who participated in the Corvette lap before the race. He was very excited!

The Corvette Corral at Road America was the very first Corral that was established for Corvette racing. GM, Corvette Racing are proud sponsors of the corral and Road America.

Doug Fehan told us that Road America and the Corvette Corral are the teams favorite place to race and participate in. "The corvette fans at Road America are the best on the circuit", Doug proclaimed.
